AI Influenced technology.

Introducing.

The next big leap.

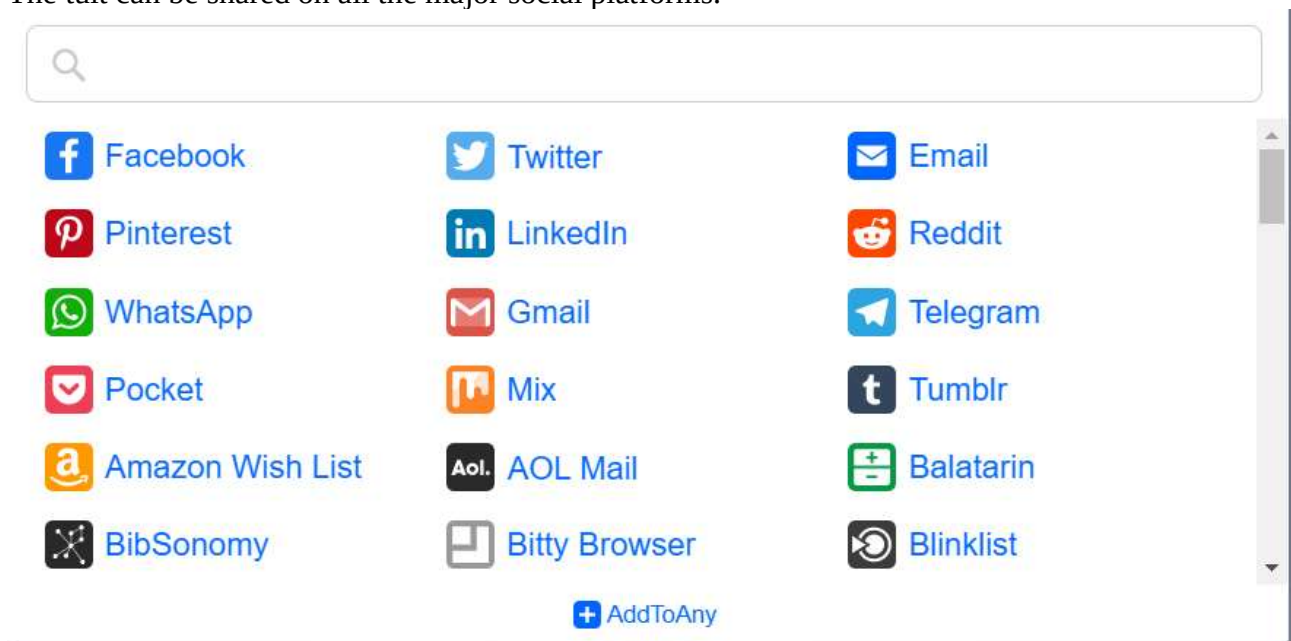

Maintaining your website costs time and money.

Most websites once published will do nothing except exist, until they are either removed or modified at some cost.

What is needed, is not only a link to your most recent event or activity or just a link to attract visitors to your site. But a link that can be shared with existing or potential clients, on any of the multiple available networks or sites, be they social or otherwise, to which your audience may subscribe. The link should be temporary and should not outlive the lifespan of the message.

In the case of events, the tuit can last as long as the information it carries is useful. Once the event is over the message is over..

The tuit can be shared on all the major social platforms.

Video Component for short video.
